

Elluminate Live!® V10

Availability. Accessibility. Usability.

Equal Opportunity Education—for ALL

At Elluminate, our unified learning and collaboration approach includes unifying the learning experience for everyone. We believe 21st century learning means an easy-to-use, inclusive environment that eliminates barriers to meeting individual needs and learning styles.

That's why Elluminate Live!® V10 is all about accessibility—and not just for those with disabilities. Here are some highlights of this newest version of our flagship product.

- Even greater access than ever before for users with blindness or low vision
- Improved user interface for screen readers creates easier-to-use environment for all
- Enhanced whiteboard, application sharing, and audio tools for higher-quality collaboration
- Increased engagement and awareness for educators and learners with new Activity Window

When you build in accessibility from the ground up, the end result is a richer, more interactive online teaching and learning environment for all, regardless of geography, economy, or ability. Think of it as universal design for education

Why is accessibility important?

- a. It's the law
- b. It benefits ALL users
- c. It's just good business
- d. It's the right thing to do
- e. All of the above

History of Accessibility

Our core No User Left Behind™ philosophy has guided us for almost 10 years. We began with low-bandwidth connectivity and cross-platform support, adding increasingly comprehensive features and functionality designed to enable an increasingly wide range of users to fully engage and participate.

With Elluminate Live! V10, we've taken accessibility to a whole new level that encompassed real user-driven development. Our Accessibility Taskforce includes a cross-functional Elluminate team, along with members of the educational accessibility community and educators and students with disabilities, who continue to serve as our valued advisors and product testers.

We also made a significant investment in training, testing tools, hardware, and software to ensure accessibility is a core component of the Elluminate platform. The result: a 21st century teaching, learning, and collaboration environment that truly brings accessibility to life.

Focus on Quality of Experience

The centerpiece of our Elluminate Learning Suite™, Elluminate Live! V10 also offers greater performance and usability. We're especially excited about the new Activity Window, which provides unprecedented awareness of session activities for both educator and learner.

Our focus remains on the continuous improvement of your Elluminate experience—whether you are an individual student, educator, or entire class. So if you are totally in sync or struggling a bit with online teaching and learning, Elluminate can help YOU, providing equal opportunity education for everyone, everywhere.
